In the first two weeks of October, I together with my colleague Ing. Petra Šutarikova participated in a mobility of the Erasmus+ project with 15 students from our school (2nd, 3rd and 4th graders). It was an internship in Germany in the city of Essen. We stayed in a hostel that had an excellent location in the city center near the main train station. The students were divided into two groups of boys and girls. They interned on weekdays in 2 companies, namely Karmod GMBH in Hattingen and Architektur team in Dortmund.

The girls practised in Dortmund at the architectural firm Architektur team where they used the AutoCad and Revit programs and also tried working in the new ArchCad program under the supervision of experienced architects.

The company Karmod GMBH in Hattingen also has a sales representative in Slovakia (www.karmod.sk), their manufactured products are exported to 120 countries in the world. They produce model structures (buildings, schools, offices), residential containers (office, for construction sites, residential), model cabins, prefabricated houses. The boys helped in the company's production hall.

In their free time, the students had a rich program in the city of Essen, we visited Festival of Lights, Folkwang Museum, Hügel Villa, the famous residence of the Krupp family of industrialists, and one of the greatest experiences certainly was attending the ballet performance "Smile" in the Aalto Theater in Essen.

During the holidays and the weekend, we went on trips to Cologne where we visited the world famous Cathedral; in the former capital city of Bonn, we went to the Museum of German history since 1945 and the Botanical Garden and we also visited waterfront in Düsseldorf. Some visited the Movie Park fun park, the gym and also managed to regularly prepare to school. Our mobility was arranged and organized by PENGUIN ACADEMY GmbH, Project Management & Consulting company, specifically the project manager of the company, Mr. Halit Bas, who organized the entire stay in Germany, accompanied us and helped us, for which we are really grateful. The stay definitely met the students' expectations, they gained new work experience, knowledge, expanded their language skills and travel skills. We spent our free time together, visited monuments, theater performances, cities, galleries, and advised and helped each other in a foreign country. Thank you goes to Mgr. I. Bučkuliaková and Ms. Ing. L. Gašperáková, who prepared and organized the entire project. We are all happy to be part of the Erasmus+ team.
