It's later evening and I'm going along the street. I'm checking my last record, which was about the murder. I feel very happy today, because I finished with hard work today. I solved the big riddle about the murder.

Suddenly someone ran to me. Every record fell around me. I started to collect my records, when someone's hand snagged on my hand. I look upwards. She was kneeling before me. I was surprised how beautiful a woman, kneeling before me. I asked her very politely "What's your name lady?" Her answer was very amazing "My name is Alice and yours?". We were talking together. She told me she was going home. I asked her "Can I accompany you home?" She told very calmly "I won't be bothered if you go with me".

We were going to Alice's home and we were talking together. I was very curious about where she works? She was talking about her work as a clothes designer and she likes this job very much. I was very surprised how beautifully she was talking about her job. I was interested in where she lives. She lives in a small corner flat. I was going with her to the third storey. When we said goodbye together, she wanted to close the door. I noticed she has test tubes on the table. I wanted to ask her about test tubes, but she closed the door.

I caught on, but I didn't want to go. I'm the detective. I can't leave my detective work. I went to her through the window. I was very happy, because she had an open window. I went to her home. There wasn't anything special. I noticed she was in the bathroom. I went to explore.

She had a very tidy flat. It looks like I was in the living room. I went to the next room, because in the living room wasn't anything special. In the next room wasn't furniture, but I saw the vase. The vase was askew. I tried to straighten the vase. The vase fell on the floor. It made a very loud noise. Alice went to me. She saw me and she was very surprised. She asked me "What are you doing here?" I told her from my heart "I love you". She was surprised again and I was surprised too. Then she told me "Every person who I love never told me they love me". I didn't want to ruin everything, but I had to tell her why I am here.

When I said everything to her she wasn't surprised. She told me that she lied to me about her job. In fact, she works as a personal researcher and the test tubes are for the new project in her job. Finally, I solved her secret. I spent the night in her house. We were talking about our job and our life. I liked her and I think she liked me, but I had to go to work so early in the morning. Next day I send her invite for a dinner, unfortunately she accepted invitation. Now we are together for 2 years, and I am the happiest person on the world.
